At first glance you're impressed with its rugged strength while a thought impresses you with its homely yet quaint design. We must thank the crude old mission fathers for such beauty in the rough. Strangely, too, the idea is carried into the wood itself, whose grain stands out impressively in the fumed oak from which it is made. A large number of pieces are

ALL SPAULDING

AFTER FIRST HALF

High School Defeated Montpelier Seminary at Basket Ball Last Night by the Score of 38 to 19.

After the first half of the basket ball game at the Montpelier Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last night, it was all Spaulding high school; and the Montpelier seminary players were fairly overwhelmed with an avalanche of scores, the final tally being 38 to 19. Montpelier seminary held on well for the first half, the score being 18 to 12 in Spaulding's favor; but the high school combination got to going in the second half and, together with an injury to Capt. Giddens' hand, which caused his retiring from the game, put the visitors well in the lead.

Grigg was the high scorer for Spaulding, as he was for the entire game, getting eight baskets from the floor and caging the ball eight times on throws from fouls. Witham scored most for Montpelier, with two baskets from the floor and seven points from fouls. The game was interesting throughout and kept the audience in excitement.

R & G Corsets

We show this line with a great deal of pride, knowing that the style is in advance, that the fit and wear is right and that the price is small. Why shouldn't we?

The latest Corset is long, yes, quite long at the same time being very comfortable and easy. One reason for this is that every pair of R & G Corsets are steam moulded and left on an iron form until perfectly dry and shaped. It's the only Corset that we know of being treated in that way. Price $1.00.

R & G Corsets have a reputation like all best kinds that is growing. We have to anticipate our orders that we may keep our stock up.

Cut your garments by a New Idea 10c pattern, it saves your cloth and gives you a beautiful fit with style the very latest, in fact, they claim three months in advance of other patterns.

The Daylight Store

Monmouth. Nicholas saw the commander sitting on his horse beside the road and endeavored to conceal himself behind the file in front of him, but Washington's quick eye lighted on him. The boy never forgot the look the general gave him on that occasion. It was one of mingled pain, admiration and reproach. Raising his hand, he motioned Nicholas to fall out of the ranks. The young soldier did so, and the commander said to him:

"Are you an enlisted man?"

"Yes, general. At last I found a recruiting officer who would pass me."

"Since you are in the military service and in this army you are under my orders. I desire you to carry a message for me. Go to your mother and tell her that her country will accept no more sacrifices at her hands and that the last one of her noble men shall remain with her by my order till he is discharged."

Nicholas burst into tears. The general, bending down, pressed the young soldier's hand; then, forgetting him to more important duties, he rode away.

It is a matter of history that there was a traitor in the American army high in command, that traitor being General Charles Lee. He did what he could to throw the victory into the hands of the British, finally on his own responsibility ordering a retreat of his own troops which involved other divisions of the American army. A panic followed, and the men fled precipitately, many of them frantically burying toward a causeway covering a morass.

Washington when he heard of the disaster pushed forward, placing the troops under his own immediate command at the end of the causeway nearest the enemy to stop the flight of Lee's and other troops. Among this force fighting at the causeway Washington caught sight of young Nicholas Halstead leading and firing at the enemy with the light of vengeance in his eye. There was neither time nor inclination to reproach the boy for disobedience of the order sending him home, but the general, maddened though he was with Lee's treachery, was not too occupied to notice Nicholas fighting at the most important point. The British were held off, the battle was renewed, and when the fight closed at nightfall Washington found his dispositions to attack the next morning.

Having slept during the night under a large oak tree, he awoke before dawn and mounted his horse. But the light of day revealed the fact that the enemy had slipped away under cover of the darkness.

During the morning while the commander was riding over the battlefield he saw a soldier get up from a pile of dead and wounded and stagger away. Calling to him, the soldier turned. It was Nicholas Halstead.

"You disobeyed my order, I see," said the general.

Nicholas, supporting himself on his musket, hung his head, but said nothing.

"Well," resumed the general, "there seems to be no possibility of keeping you at home, and, since you will remain with the army, I must put you where your honest patriotism and military ardor will do the most good. Obey the order I gave you so far as going home and remain home till you receive a commission, which will be forwarded you."
